

Troy Ruboyianes' Tax Tips

When Should an Amended Return be Filed?

An amended return should be filed if there is a change in items of income, deductions, or credits on the original return. These changes may occur because they were reported in error or omitted on the original return.

If it is Wrong, Fix It

Many people believe that by amending a return they are extending the statute of limitations period. Yet this is not the case. By amending a return you are not giving the IRS additional time to examine other items on the original return. The reality is that the IRS has a 3-year statute of limitations to challenge a return.

No Excuse for Fraud

If the original return was filed fraudulently (you knowingly lied) there is no statute of limitations as to when the IRS can examine the return.

If you think that you might need to amend a return or you are interested in any other tax planning strategies, please feel free to give me a call.

Troy Ruboyianes
520-247-1220
troy@ruboyianes.com

P.S. Please don't keep me a secret. You may have a friend or family members who can benefit from this free service. If you appreciate this service, the biggest compliment that I can receive is a referral.

Troy Ruboyianes graduated from the University of Arizona with a degree in accounting, finance, and entrepreneurship and is working for R and A CPA's. He is committed to providing personalized, quality service to business and individual clients and is always interested in developing new client relationships.

If you would like to be removed from this email, please send an email to remove@ruboyianes.com and type REMOVE in the subject line.

---

The information presented is only of a general nature, may omit many details and special rules, is current only as of its published date, and accordingly cannot be regarded as legal or tax advice. Please contact our office for more information on this subject and how it pertains to your specific tax or financial situation.